I want to show something like this: where clicking on each of the box's in the far left column would show the box and the number of users that clicked on the button. I understand the basic concept of how callouts work (that is, the part of the script that says: switch input case 'c':disp(c) end is working). What I can't seem to figure out is how to do it when they have their own column in the GUI. The issue here is that if I want to specify my own column that doesn't exist by default, I get the error: ??? Undefined function or variable "p". Error in ==> line 36 at Y = real(x)+imag(y);> I also tried adding 'grid display ...
